Private & Small Group Lessons

PRIVATE ADVICE

1.

BOOK EARLY

Much of Sam's schedule is booked up a year or more in advance so plan ahead.

2.

FIND A FRIEND

Semi-private and small group lessons can be dynamic, fun and cost effective. Training partners who study together can help each other to improve.

3.

PREPARE FOR LESSON

If you think about what you want to work on in advance, you'll probably get more out of your time. Think about what can realistically be tackled in the time scheduled. Review the material before the lesson!

4.

BOOK A SERIES

If you book several lessons in advance, Sam can help you develop a plan for progress. You may also be eligible for a discount.

Private lessons

Personal feedback from Sam

Many students have experienced accelerated progress from private, semi-private and small group sessions with Sam.

Lesson topic, format and schedule can be tailored to meet individual needs. The opportunity for real hands on correction and Sam's direct feedback can be invaluable in cultivating higher skill levels.

Private lessons are generally scheduled for an hour but intensive periods of study are also accommodated.

Sometimes lessons can be scheduled when Sam is on tour and teaching a seminar in a town near you. Check the Calendar to see where he is when. Sam divides his teaching time between Europe and Canada. Sam keeps an updated availability schedule on the Private Lessons page of the website.

Private study groups

Groups can also book Sam for closed seminars or guidance sessions. Sam will occasionally travel to teach small, private or small group closed sessions—talk to your study-buddies and put something together!
